

Mike Caruso

Representative Mike Caruso learned from a young age that in order to succeed, he needed to roll up his sleeves and work hard until the job was done. As a child, Mike sold flowers and mowed lawns to earn money. He kept his entrepreneurial spirit alive and worked his way through college at George Washington University, where he earned a degree in Business Administration, specializing in accounting.

After years of experience as a CPA in accounting firms such as KPMG and Grant Thornton International, Mike opened his own CPA firm, Caruso & Caruso, in Palm Beach County. Over the next three decades, Mike used his skills to benefit the community, serving on many community organization boards, and serving as an expert witness in many local and national court cases as a forensic accountant.

Mike is a proud father of 7, a champion barefoot water-skier, a tennis enthusiast, and enjoys spending time at the beach with his wife and two dogs. Mike is honored to call South Florida his home where he has lived for over 30 years.

Since being elected to the Florida House, Mike has passed 13 bills, 4 of them related to the sober homes and substance abuse. He has also brought back over $150 million in appropriations in areas such as mental health, school security, and helping the organizations that serve the underserved. Mike is currently serving on the following committees: Vice Chair of Pandemics & Public Emergencies Committee, Vice Chair of Finance & Facilities Subcommittee, Ways & Means Subcommittee, Early Learning & Elementary Education Subcommittee, Justice Appropriations

Subcommittee, Post-Secondary Education & Lifelong Learning Subcommittee, and the Ways & Means Committee. He is proud to be completing his second term in the Florida House of Representatives where he was able to secure a significant investment from the State in our community as well as to have passed legislation relating to anti-Semitism and sober homes.
